Course description

One of the most crucial roles of teachers is developing young minds through exploration, discovery and creativity. Our Erasmus+ General English & Using Drama, Music & Culture in the Classroom programme is designed for non-native Primary school teachers who teach subjects through English and want to gain skills needed to incorporate music, drama and culture into their lessons.

Drama, Music and Culture are highly effective teaching and learning methodologies which have been proven to operate successfully in various educational settings. Teachers of all levels of experience from primary schools will be able to fully engage in this rich course of professional development.

Course objectives

- Improve participants' English language skills and work on their personal language goals
- Develop participants' confidence and skills to deliver primary school music and drama curricula
- Enable participants to use music and drama to imaginatively respond to themes and concepts in other subjects
- Work both in teams and individually to bring themes to life through a range of creative approaches

Pedagogical outcomes

- Assess the suitability of drama, music and cultural materials for use in the primary school classroom
- Utilise supplementary resources to deliver high quality, dynamic and varied lessons
- Endorse music, drama and culture as an integral part of a complete, successful and high-quality education
